Re: Master Alphabetical Classification Index (MACI) 2006 Edition

The Board is pleased to announce the completion of the 2006 edition of the Master Alphabetical Classification Index (MACI) which will be available for distribution beginning January 2006. This guide has proven to be an invaluable reference tool for the application of the proper workers compensation classification.

The new edition of the MACI contains several additional cross-references and expansion of many current entries and includes, as well, new class assignments.

The price for this version of MACI is $50 for members and $100 for non-members. It may be ordered by completing and mailing the attached order form to the Board along with the appropriate payment. This version will be in a loose-leaf type of format (three-hole punched) to allow for updates at several junctures. Updates to the 2006 edition will be provided at no additional charge. Also, an updated MACI will be available on the secure portion of the Board’s Internet site to Internet Subscribers. Please note that the Internet version of MACI does contain a search engine which allows the user to search by phrase or classification code. Refer to R.C. 2089, dated July 8, 2005, for information on Internet Site subscriptions.

If you have any questions concerning the availability and distribution of the 2006 MACI, please contact the Accounting Division at extension 152, or 153.

Very truly yours,

Monte Almer

President
