To The Members of the Board

Re: Board Website

On January 1, 2007, the Rating Board will unveil a completely revised and updated website, (www.nycirb.org) which will contain some new features and additional information not contained on the present site.

One of the more important changes to the site is that all manuals and statistical exhibits, formerly contained in the registered users’ areas, will now be accessible to all users of the site without charge or further user identification.

The site will also have an expanded Data Reporting section which will include access to all of the Rating Board Calls as well as a direct link to the New York Financial Call Information System (NYFCIS).

Many of these changes are the result of comments and suggestions from the Board’s membership and we, of course, welcome any input you may have on how our site can be further improved to provide you with the most relevant and up-to-date Board data and related New York Workers Compensation information.

Very Truly Yours,

Monte Almer
